Golf Board Update – Cathy Loffink

- 1.) Oak tree on 1st hold yellow course may be cut down to protect the cart barn in the event of a storm. Nothing definite on the matter yet.
- 2.) Members and golfers are not adhering or respecting the purpose of the yellow cart signs that have been put in place. Electric carts and manual push carts are still being in front of these cart signs when the game is still in play and are also removed when viewed as an obstacle. The golfers forget to put them back in their original place. As members we are encouraged to remind each other of the rules and etiquette of golf.

- 3.) Some old sprinklers are being replaced on the Red course. This may help alleviate puddling on some areas on the course and paths.
- 4.) The Golf Board will soon have a manual of governance and structure for new CGC board members.
- 5.) The CWGA asked if hole flag markers will be put on the Flagsticks. There is no plan to do this.

Note On Tournaments: Number of players and cancellations affect the other golf leagues also.
